Professors Przemyslaw Pawlak, Zbyslaw Dobrowolski and Daumantas Bockus, from the university AKSIM (Torun) Jagelonian University (Crackovia) in Poland, and Klaipeda University (Lithuania), have participated during their Erasmus stay between 27 and 31 March 2023, in the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration, under the coordination of Jesús Barrena, and Nieves Gómez in the subjects of International Managerial Skills, and International Audit. The professors were available to talk about their curriculum, publications and possible collaborations.

These professors have offered two seminars, delivered in English in face-to-face and online format at the aforementioned faculty, related to three major and important areas: Wellbeing, SDGs and Project Management. The content of both seminars dealt with the development of project management methodologies for the preparation of European projects, as well as principles of project monitoring and control, the importance of auditing and Supreme Audit Institutions, the main trends in research, and the objectives of sustainable development and wellbeing in the tourism sector.

For further information, please contact Prof. Jesús Barrena (jesus.barrena@uca.es).
